HEADTEACHER'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents and Carers,

Hurrah! So you can now read this message on our new website!

Monday 4th September Staff Inset Day

Tuesday 5th September Students return:

School starts for the new Year 7 at 9.30am .

School starts for Years 8, 9, 10 and 11 at 1.30pm

A huge thank you from all of us to Marion Dowling who has compiled the content of the site over a period of months and will also be overseeing it. Please take some time to browse through the area for parents and carers and let us know your thoughts for improvement. You will see that there are still some areas under development but these will be completed by the start of the next academic year. It was lovely to chat to some of our Year 7 parents on Thursday at our Year 7 GREEN celebration- and to hear their very favourable comments.

'Our business' continues and I am sure I haven't been able to keep up with it all - although I have tried! Monday was our superb Summer Musical Concert, the last under the stewardship of our outgoing Head of Performing Arts, Michael Burstow. He is relocating back with his family to Devon and will be sorely missed. I will update you on our other staffing changes in September. The soloist, ensemble and orchestral pieces with vocal accompaniment were wonderful. The second half was notable for the noise of our steel pan bands alongside the biggest orchestra I have yet to see at WSFG - led powerfully by Kalila's singing, in a novel interpretation of Run by Snow Patrol and One Day Like This by Elbow.

This week, all Year 8 students have been on a truly memorable outward bound trip to the Young Mariners' centre in Hertfordshire. Thank you to Ms Famiglietti and Ms Jean Baptiste and the Year 8 tutors who have accompanied the trips - and got very wet themselves! I was also privileged to be one of the judges of the Year 8 Public Speaking competition. The speakers spoke so very maturely and confidently to their whole year group on a range of topics: including child brides, the bee crisis, social media, discrimination, cosmetic surgery and mental health. Congratulations to Zia, Eliza, Imaan, Amira, Khadijah and Crystal whose speeches were all so powerful and persuasive, and a special well done to Khadijah 8C who was the overall winner - but it was a very hard decision. Thank you also to Ms Cato and the English team for organising the event.

Other activities this week have included careers educational trips to the City and commercial businesses for Year 9 students, a trip to Wimbledon as a reward for our students who were members of the ball-crew in the Wheelchair Masters event and, for Year 7, our third GREEN event which took place in the grounds in front of the school and the Lodge, where a wonderful exhibition of the girls' self-portraits and poetry was displayed. Thank you to Ms Philippou, Ms Abassi and the GREEN Reps, and all our students who worked hard to make the event all the more special by organising stalls including a raffle, cakes and refreshments, and henna tattoos to raise money for our partner school in Ambore, Pakistan.

It is with sadness that we wish farewell to some members of staff at the end of term, many of whom are relocating from the South East. Mr Burstow, as previously mentioned, is heading for Devon; Mr Truan, is relocating to Cornwall, Ms Heath to Yorkshire and Mr Mace will be working at a school in Hertfordshire, nearer to his new home. We are also saying farewell to Ms B. Begum in the Science Faculty as well as Ms Hussain (LSA) and Ms Flanders (receptionist), who were both with us on temporary contracts which will come to an end. We wish them all the very best for the future. We are looking forward to welcoming returning and new members of staff, who will be joining the team at WSGF in September.

Finally thank you for your support and loyalty this year and we wish you and your families a safe and happy summer break.

Best wishes,
Meryl Davies

Date: 29 June 2017

Dear Ms Davies,

Invitation to join the Mayor's Schools for Success Programme

I am writing to congratulate Walthamstow School for Girls for achieving great results for the students in your school. Our analysis of DfE data from 2016 has identified your school as exceptional for helping low achieving students do better.

Through my new school recognition programme, I'd now like to give you an award as one of our 2017/18 Schools for Success. You really have done brilliant work for these students.

My aim is to recognise primary and secondary schools in London that are helping all their students to be the best they can. I want other schools to learn from your good practice too. That's why I'd like you, through the programme, to share some of the story of your school's success with others.

On Friday 29 September 2017, we're holding a special event at City Hall to celebrate schools like yours. Please join us from 9:30 am-12 noon, to receive your school certificate, and gain recognition for your achievements. Register before the 15 July and find out more on the City Hall website at: www.london.gov.uk/schoolsforsuccess.

Your school has taken a big step forward for young Londoners. By leveling the playing field for all your students, you're helping to reduce educational inequality and improve social mobility.

Finally, I would like to extend my thanks and best wishes to the teachers, support staff and governors at Walthamstow School for Girls. I hope you'll agree to join our programme and help us establish a network of excellent London teaching and leadership practice.

Yours sincerely,

Sadiq Khan
Mayor of London

Chewing

Dear Parents / Carers,

The Focus of the Fortnight is on Chewing.

All students are clear that chewing gum is a banned item and is therefore not allowed in school. If a student is found to be chewing on school premises, she will have her conduct card signed and will get an automatic one hour detention with a member of the Leadership Team.

Please support the school by ensuring your daughter does not bring chewing gum into school and please do not bring chewing gum into school yourself if you are visiting.

Thank you for your, continued support.

Ms. Pratt
Assistant Headteacher

All students are clear that chewing gum is a banned item and must not be brought into school.

Sanctions

If a student is caught chewing in school, she will have her conduct card signed and will get an automatic one hour detention.

Chewing gum is a banned item at WSGF.

Information for Parents/Carers

Dear Parents / Carers,

It has been brought to my attention that a number of students in various Year Groups throughout the school have head lice at the present time. At school we are not entitled to make any head inspections, nor would we wish to, so the responsibility for treating head lice lies with the Parents / Carers.

There is more information contained within this Greensheet. It suggests how to treat the problem if it occurs. If you suspect your daughter has head lice, must be treated systematically and the full instructions on the treatment lotion must be followed until she is completely clear. If some of the eggs remain, she will continue to have lice as they do breed quickly. The lice and eggs may take a number of treatment sessions to eradicate. The recommendation is that the whole family is treated at the same time as head lice are very easily passed on. Recommendations about the best lotions and treatments can be made by your chemist or pharmacist.

If your daughter does have head lice and she is being treated for them, there is no reason to keep her away from school, but it would be useful for you to inform us so that we are aware.

Thank you for your support in this matter.

Assistant Headteacher

Diversity Workshops Review

Year 8 and Year 9 students were lucky to participate in Diversity workshops last week. The aim of those workshops was to give our students an opportunity to engage with issues around sexual orientation and gender identity in a safe and open environment. The key messages were ones of kindness, respect and equality. In our school we want students to feel free to express themselves and feel valued for their uniqueness.

We listened to LGBT volunteer role models whose powerful stories gave an insight in to the experiences of LGBT people. A Q&A followed which helped develop students' empathy, understanding and acceptance and challenge stereotypes and prejudice. Here are their views:

In my opinion this workshop was extremely informational and emotional in the right ways. The stories were a good addition as it made people feel comfortable with themselves and possibly want to come out and embrace themselves. This was respectful to all groups, both minority and mainstream. Sapphire 8C

The workshop was interesting and interactive. I learnt a lot about how LGBT people are treated outside the school walls and how people need to really get over the fact that some people are LGBT and we need to treat them the same as everyone else. Aoife 8F

I liked how we got personal stories from Toby and it really made me realise that I shall encourage LGBT people to be who they are/come out. Aleena 8C

I really enjoyed this workshop as I feel it educated lots of people, and it made us understand some of the issues LGBT people face. I feel like our class is more understanding after the workshop, and accepting of others. Florence 8F

I think that the workshop was fun and interesting. I got to know more facts about LGBT and learned the stories of LGBT people. I know now that I will be more supportive about LGBT and try to understand as much as I can. Daphne 8S

I found it really interesting and their stories were really inspiring and I also learnt some new things. Thank you Miss. Oluwatunmise 8C

I thought that the lesson was inspiring and an eye-opener to many people. Eva 8C

I found the workshop really eye opening. I loved how open the role models were and how they also weren't afraid to answer questions. Shannai 8H

I think that the workshop helped make LGBT people realise what to expect in the future years. We had words of experience about how people may treat you but also how to overcome it and also feel free. This workshop was really helpful for a lot of people and has changed some people's mind for the better. It has made a difference.

Saffa 8C

I felt like this workshop was very good! As I come from a very religious background it is hard to talk about being "different" but this workshop really made me think about others and their problems and struggles. We should have more workshops like this! It made me very happy.

Melissa 9S

I really enjoyed the workshop. Mary, Bianca and Sukh are such cool people and I really feel like I've understood the journey of coming out from different backgrounds. It was enjoyable and interactive and I felt really safe and embraced all of my differences.

Tenzin 9C

The workshop really helped me to understand how LGBT people feel. It also made me talk confidently with these people. I enjoyed the workshop because in the future, I will try to talk to more LGBT people.

Sumbal 9C

This workshop has given me a clear understanding of my views and sexuality. Thank you.

Charlotte 9C

It was really good and helped us learn more about the LGBT + community and different challenges people face.

Grace 9W

I feel some people will be more accepting of the LGBT community after taking part in the workshop. It was a lovely experience.

Aleeza 9W

I was very proud of how well our students behaved and how respectful and open minded they were.

Diversity Coordinator.

The Cambridge Choral Experience

Five students recently had the fantastic opportunity to spend the day at the University of Cambridge. In order to participate, they needed to be members of a choir and be prepared to travel to Cambridge on a Saturday. Other than that, there was no cost. Here is some feedback from the participants:

The Old Divinity School was easy enough to find, and the atmosphere was astonishing. The building, from the outside, was really old but fancy and renovated inside. I really liked it. We were given sheets of music and learnt many new singing techniques as well as meeting great new people. I made a few new friends and the scholars were also very friendly, but just as formal too. The tours were fascinating as I understood the immense grandness and beauty of the buildings while our guide told us about the history of the colleges. After the tours, we had a very interesting and informative talk and Q&A time. I found out a lot more about how to apply and scholarships to do with music. I was always really interested and passionate about Oxbridge and I believe it was a great opportunity and would love to do it again.

Tulin 8S

I really enjoyed the Cambridge Choral Experience. Students came from schools from all over the country to take part, even from Northern Ireland. Some Cambridge students also sang with us and the conductor was really fun and entertaining. We learnt three pieces of music and performed for parents at the end of the day in St John's College chapel. The acoustics were amazing and it was really great to be inside the music as the whole group performed together.

In the afternoon we also had a tour of some of the colleges. Gonville and Caius College was my favourite because it's really beautiful. Some of the current students also talked to us about the application process and the sort of questions they ask in interview at Cambridge. I was really glad to have had the opportunity to take part.

Robin 8C

If you missed out this year, look out for more opportunities like this in the future. The Universities of Oxford and Cambridge are both committed to encouraging students from state schools to consider Oxbridge. At WSFG we are developing strong links with the Schools Liaison Officers from both universities.

Prevention and Treatment of HEAD LICE

Detection Treatments

Head lice are well camouflaged and hide when disturbed by combing. They do not always cause itching, particularly when recently arrived on the head. They may also be few in number and a quick inspection is unlikely to detect them. The following method of detection is effective:

- Wash the hair using ordinary shampoo, then use a wide toothed comb to straighten and untangle the hair. It is easier to do this with wet hair, and using hair conditioner
- Once the comb moves freely through the hair, without dragging, switch to a fine tooth comb. Make sure the teeth of the comb slot into the hair at the roots and draw down to the ends of the hair with every stroke. The comb must be fine enough to catch the lice - size indicated below – do not confuse lice or their eggs with clumps of dandruff or other debris.

Actual size in stages of growth of the head louse.

- Check the comb for lice after each stroke as you work through the hair section by section, so that the whole head of hair is combed through, then rinse out the conditioner and
- repeat the combing procedure in the wet hair.
- This can be undertaken on a regular basis – eg. At routine hair washing sessions - to detect the presence of lice before they can spread. Check all family members at the same time and arrange treatment when lice are found

Treatment

If you find lice, then there are two options. Whichever option you choose it is important to recognise that neither will protect against re-infection if head to head contact is made with someone with head lice at a later date. You may therefore wish to undertake occasional checks during hair washing sessions.

Option 1: Lotions and creme rinses using insecticides

- Do not use lotions or rinses unless you find a living moving louse. Check all close family/friends by the "wet combing" method, as described, and treat anyone who is found to have lice at the same time, to prevent re-infection.
- Ensure you have enough lotion/rinse to treat all those affected and follow the instructions on the packet carefully, eg. as to how long the treatment must remain on the hair to be effective, how often you may apply the product etc.
- The product may be capable of killing eggs, as well as lice, but there is no certainty of this. Check for baby lice hatching out from eggs 3-5 days after you use it, and again at 10-12 days.

- If the lice appear to be unaffected by the product (some lice may have developed resistance to a particular insecticide) or if the problem persists - then you should take advice from your local school nurse, health visitor, pharmacist or GP, who will be able to advise you on alternative treatments and explain how to use these to best effect. You should seek advice where whoever is being treated is either Under 1 year of age, suffers from asthma or allergies, or is pregnant or breast feeding.

Option 2: The "Bug Busting" treatment method

This aims at systematic removal of live lice by combing through the hair and physically removing any lice found. Success depends largely upon adopting a painstaking approach - as described in the "Bug Buster" kit. The kit, which includes an illustrated guide and combs, is available from some pharmacies, and by mail order from:

Community Hygiene Concern

Fax: 020 8292 7208
www.chc.org/bugbusting
Charity reg. no: 801371

- Only one kit is required for a family and it is reusable. Four sessions spaced over 2 weeks are required to clear the lice, as long as the person does not catch more lice, in which case half-weekly sessions must continue.
- Some schools find it helpful to adopt a whole-school approach (where all parents check their children and family members on the same evening and treat as needed), A "Bug Buster" Teaching Pack is available to assist this process. For further information send three 2nd class stamps loose, plus a self-addressed sticky label to the above address.
- Taking part on "Bug Busting" days can help to prevent lice circulating, ie. if all cases are identified and treated successfully at the same time there will be fewer opportunities for lice to circulate amongst children and their families.

Facts

- Head lice are small, six-legged wingless insects, pin-head size when they hatch, less than match-head size when fully grown and grey/brown in colour. They are difficult to detect in dry hair even when the head is closely inspected. They very often cause itching, but this is not always the case, particularly when recently arrived on the head.
- Head lice cannot fly, jump or swim, but spread by clambering from head to head. Anyone with hair can catch them, but-children who have head to head contact, either at school or during play, are most commonly affected.

- Head lice feed by biting and sucking blood through the scalp of their host. The female louse lays eggs in sacs (nits) which are very small, dull in colour, and well camouflaged. These are securely glued to hairs where the warmth of the scalp will hatch them out in 7-10 days. Empty egg sacs are white and shiny and may be found further along the hair shaft as the hair grows out. Lice take 6-14 days to become fully grown, after which they are capable of reproduction.
- Head lice are not fussy about hair length or condition. Clean hair is therefore no protection, although regular (eg. weekly) hair washing and combing sessions offer a good opportunity to detect head lice, and arrange treatment if discovered.

Head Lice

Lice hang on tight to the hair, usually close to the scalp where there is warmth, food and shelter from detection. Full grown lice take the opportunity to move from head to head during close contact. Younger lice tend to remain for about 6 days on the head where they have hatched.

Head lice need to maintain contact with a host in order to survive. Those lice that leave the host voluntarily, or fall off, are likely to be damaged or approaching death (their life span is about 3 weeks) and so unable to start a new colony. There is no need to wash or fumigate clothing or bedding that comes into contact with head lice.

If you are at all worried about head lice or feel you need more advice on how to cope, then you should consult your school nurse, health visitor, pharmacist or family doctor.
