HEADTEACHER'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents and Carers,

We have had another excellent week, despite record breaking stifling temperatures. The girls have made great use of the shade offered by the parasols purchased by our alumnae-otherwise they have picnicked on our landscaped grounds shaded by the trees. We are expecting a downpour Friday, so back to normal then!

The excellent weather afforded our photographer the very best of conditions to shoot the images for our new prospectus. Some of these photographs will also be included in our new website. She told us the girls were a delight to work with, and I can only endorse that, as each shot took some time to set up and the girls waited patiently in the heat. They also endured some dreadful joke telling!

Being with the girls gave me the opportunity to talk to them about their new blazers and their new badge. Despite the heat, the majority were very much in favour of the changes and particularly proud of the significance of their new school badge.

Following extensive consultation with all of our school community last year, there was overwhelming support for having the long history of the school represented in the new badge with the inclusion of the Greek theatre. The previous badge or logo was hand designed by a Year 7 student in 1986 to commemorate the opening of WSFG as an 11-16 girls' comprehensive school under the leadership of the then Headteacher, Pat Marino, who sadly passed away last year. In this issue of the Greensheet, we have reproduced extracts of the former student's article where she describes the ideas behind the previous badge, written after she came back to visit her former school earlier this year.

The new badge or logo is symbolic for a number of reasons. Our 12 year old designer in 1986 was keen to include hidden elements of the school, for example the rose garden (which was removed to make way for the new car park) and the outdoor Greek theatre (built in 1925) in which Dame Sybil Thorndike took on the role of Medea. We have retained a representation of the Greek theatre, which the girls see as symbolising power, strength, knowledge and, interestingly, growth, and as a site of our key transition celebrations in the school.

We have added the date on which the school was founded to illustrate the long tradition of quality education associated with this school. The lettering around the badge is in the same font, Albertus, as the font of our motto written in gold in the main Hewett Hall, named after another of the school's previous Headteachers. The acanthus leaf reflects our local links with William Morris and the Arts and Crafts movement, as well as the leaf design on the portico main entrance to the school and the pomegranate decorative design in the Hewett Hall. The colour green has obviously been retained as representing both our history as the 'Green' school in both colour and deed, but also our values which underpin our vision for the school built on our commitment to developing independent citizens, prepared to take risks in their learning and to embrace challenge and change. Finally the colours; gold for excellence, reflecting aspects of the school's decoration as well as the achievement board lettering in the Hewett Hall, but we now have the addition of purple, representing the achievement of women and the battle to secure equality with the vote, or suffrage, and liberation. So our school colours now reflect those of the Suffragette movement, which is a fitting reminder of the power our young students have to influence the world in which they live.

We are grateful to our designer, Lydia Thornley and the school's governors who volunteered their time and expertise for months as they engaged with this process with us: Gillian Barker (Chair of Governors), Jane Harper and Kay Larkin, and also Romi Jalil, the school Business Manager.

You can visit the school and have a guided tour on Saturday from 1-4pm as part of the London Open House scheme-details elsewhere in this Greensheet.

Best wishes
Meryl Davies

School Logo Competition 1986.

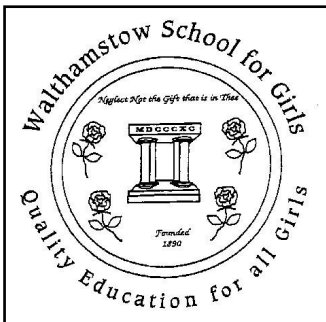

On a recent visit to England by ex-student Kim Baker, Mr Shackson discovered that she had designed the school logo in 1986 when the school underwent an expansion. Below is a letter received from Kim after her visit explaining her involvement in the design of the school logo.

As to the school emblem:

I designed the emblem in the summer of 1986, I was amongst the first intake of 1st year students in autumn 1986. At that time there were 4th, 5th and lower and upper 6th form years. As the school was expanding and the school centenary was approaching, it was decided that the school should have a new emblem. On my intake day it was announced that there would be a competition for the new 1st year students to design a new school badge. I was keen to take part and in my summer holiday I designed the emblem combining the striking image of the Greek theatre columns with the school's grounding year in roman numerals, rounded off with a rose motif edging. I had been very impressed by the beautiful rose garden and the Greek theatre on my first visit of Walthamstow Girls on intake day. I knew how the school looked from outside, but had never imagined what wonderful hidden beauty the grounds contained. I found the idea to combine these 'hidden' or 'secret' details of the school grounds, the Greek theatre and the Rose garden, together in an emblem encapsulated the school motto 'Neglect not the gift that is in thee'. I also found that the Greek columns could signify knowledge and the roses growth and femininity.

With best wishes,
Kim Baker

Noise and Movement in the School.

Dear Parents / Carers,

All members of our school community are asked within the Out of Lesson Positive Behaviour Code to move around the school “calmly, safely and quietly”. We also always walk on the left in school corridors and staircases etc.

If students behave in a dangerous, noisy or inappropriate way in the school buildings or grounds, they will be spoken to by a member of staff and will have their conduct card signed. It is in the interest of all members of our community to move calmly, safely and quietly around the school at all times.

Thank you for your support in this and all school matters.

Ms K Pratt
Assistant Headteacher
