

Fallen

You wanted her but she washed you out, so why cry?
Why have sleepless nights and feel full of guilt when she Didn't bother to shed a single tear?
The urge to meet her one last time is possible yet why do
You feel the need?
Why go through all the pain and torment again? She Doesn't care so why do you care?
You loved her, she didn't, you wanted her, she didn't she Insulted you, you didn't, then why look back to such affliction?
Walk away my love, forget all those useless days she made
You sit in agony and cry
Walk away because the day she realises what she had lost,
It would be too late
Crying for her is a waste of time because the person who
Doesn't value your tears is nothing but a complete losers
Scream, weep but never in a million years hurt yourself for
Her because she isn't worth it
You are, and only you
Forget the one who caused you so much distress to you because
You know what?
You deserve better, you are one in a million and she couldn't
See that
Treat yourself, be happy and live your life to the fullest
Because the one who injured you will be the one who suffers
In the long run
For now, sweetheart, see the beautiful side of life and shine
Like a shining star.....
